VI. Judicial work of the Tribunal

A. The M/V “Norstar” Case (Panama v. Italy)

43. On 17 December 2015, Panama filed an application with the Tribunal dated 16 November 2015 instituting proceedings against Italy in a dispute between the two States concerning the interpretation and application of the Convention “in connection with the arrest and detention by Italy of M/V Norstar, an oil tanker registered under the flag of Panama”. The case was entered in the list of cases of the Tribunal as case No. 25.

44. On 3 February 2016, the President adopted an order fixing 28 July 2016 as the time-limit for the filing of the memorial by Panama, and 28 January 2017 as the time-limit for the filing of the counter-memorial by Italy.

45. On 11 March 2016, within the time-limit set by article 97, paragraph 1, of the Rules, Italy filed with the Tribunal “written preliminary objections under article 294, paragraph 3, of the Convention”, in which Italy challenged “the jurisdiction of [the] Tribunal as well as the admissibility of Panama’s claim”.

46. Upon receipt of the preliminary objections by the Registry, the proceedings on the merits were suspended, pursuant to article 97, paragraph 3, of the Rules.

47. The Tribunal delivered its judgment on the preliminary objections on 4 November 2016.²

48. On 29 November 2016, the President, having ascertained the views of the parties, adopted an order fixing 11 April 2017 as the time-limit for the filing of the memorial of Panama, and 11 October 2017 as the time-limit for the filing of the counter-memorial of Italy. The pleadings were filed within the prescribed time-limits.

B. Dispute concerning delimitation of the maritime boundary between Ghana and Côte d’Ivoire in the Atlantic Ocean (Ghana/Côte d’Ivoire)

50. On 3 December 2014, a special agreement was concluded between Ghana and Côte d’Ivoire to submit the dispute concerning the delimitation of their maritime boundary in the Atlantic Ocean to a special chamber of the Tribunal to be formed pursuant to article 15, paragraph 2, of the Statute. The Registrar was notified of the special agreement on the same date. The case was entered in the Tribunal’s list of cases as case No. 23.

51. By order dated 12 January 2015, the Tribunal constituted the special chamber as follows: Judge Bouguetaia, President; Judges Wolfrum and Paik, and Judges ad hoc Thomas Mensah and Ronny Abraham, members.

52. On 24 February 2015, the President of the Special Chamber adopted an order fixing 4 September 2015 as the time-limit for the filing of the memorial by Ghana, and 4 April 2016 as the time-limit for the filing of the counter-memorial by Côte d'Ivoire. The memorial and the counter-memorial were filed within the prescribed time-limits.

53. On 27 February 2015, Côte d'Ivoire filed a request for the prescription of provisional measures by the Special Chamber in accordance with article 290, paragraph 1, of the Convention. The Special Chamber delivered its order on 25 April 2015.

54. On 16 March 2016, the Special Chamber adopted an order authorizing the submission of a reply by Ghana and a rejoinder by Côte d'Ivoire and fixing 4 July and 4 October 2016, respectively, as the time-limits for the filing of the pleadings.

55. Subsequently, by order dated 25 April 2016, the President of the Special Chamber extended the time-limits for the submission of the reply and the rejoinder to 25 July and 14 November 2016, respectively. The reply and the rejoinder were filed within the extended time-limits.

56. On 15 December 2016, the President of the Special Chamber adopted an order fixing 6 February 2017 as the date for the opening of the oral proceedings in the case. Oral proceedings were held from 6 to 16 February 2017, in nine public sittings.

57. The Special Chamber delivered its judgment on 23 September 2017. In its judgment, the Special Chamber delimited the maritime boundary between the two parties in the territorial sea, the exclusive economic zone and the continental shelf, including the continental shelf beyond 200 nautical miles. In addition, the Chamber dealt with Côte d'Ivoire's claim that the responsibility of Ghana was engaged for alleged violations of the rights of Côte d'Ivoire.

58. The first question that the Special Chamber had to examine was "whether the Parties ha[d] already effected by agreement the course of their maritime boundary" (see para. 100 of the judgment). Ghana was of the view that a tacit agreement did exist on the basis of, inter alia, the parties' "oil practice" for more than five decades (see para. 113). This contention was opposed by Côte d'Ivoire (see para. 114). After examining the arguments and facts presented by the parties, the Special Chamber found that "there is no tacit agreement between the Parties to delimit their territorial sea, exclusive economic zone and continental shelf both within and beyond 200 nm" (see para. 228).

59. The Special Chamber expressed the view that "evidence relating solely to the specific purpose of oil activities in the seabed and subsoil is of limited value in proving the existence of an all-purpose boundary which delimits not only the seabed and subsoil but also superjacent water columns" (see para. 226).

60. Regarding the delimitation methodology, the Special Chamber found "no convincing reason to deviate ... from the equidistance/relevant circumstances methodology" (see para. 324). While Côte d'Ivoire had argued in favour of the application of the "angle bisector methodology" (see para. 291), the Special Chamber noted that the relevant coasts of the parties were straight and not unstable, and, therefore, it saw no reason to assume that the identification of base points and the drawing of a provisional equidistance line would be impossible or inappropriate (see paras. 302 and 318).

61. After having established the provisional equidistance line, the Special Chamber examined "whether relevant circumstances requiring an adjustment of ... [that] line ... exist", (see para. 402) and came to a negative conclusion (see para. 480).

62. Regarding a possible cut-off resulting from the equidistance line, the Special Chamber held that "some cut-off effect exists to the detriment of Côte d'Ivoire" (see para. 424) but that this effect is "not so significant" as to require an adjustment of the line (see paragraph 425). It held, in particular, that the cut-off only affects a part of the coast of Côte d'Ivoire and only comes into being 163 nm from the starting point of the equidistance line (see paragraph 424).

63. With respect to the question as to whether the location of maritime mineral resources should be considered a relevant circumstance, the Special Chamber emphasized that “[m]aritime delimitation is not a means for distributing justice” (see paragraph 452) and that the pertinent international jurisprudence, “at least in principle, favours maritime delimitation which is based on geographical considerations” and “[o]nly in extreme situations ... may considerations other than geographical ones become relevant” (see paragraph 453).

64. Regarding the delimitation of the continental shelf beyond 200 nautical miles, the Special Chamber applied the same delimitation methodology as within 200 nm (see para. 526).

65. After having delimited the maritime boundary between the parties, the Special Chamber had to deal with Côte d'Ivoire's claim relating to Ghana's international responsibility. Côte d'Ivoire argued that Ghana's conduct in the disputed part of the continental shelf had violated Côte d'Ivoire's sovereign rights as well as article 83 of the Convention and the provisional measures prescribed by the Special Chamber in its order of 25 April 2015 (see para. 544). The Special Chamber, however, came to the conclusion that none of Ghana's activities engaged its international responsibility.

66. In order to reach this conclusion, the Special Chamber provided some clarification of the interpretation of article 83, paragraph 3, of the Convention. This provision contains two obligations incumbent upon States that are parties to a delimitation dispute, namely, the obligation to “make every effort to enter into provisional arrangements of a practical nature” and the obligation “not to jeopardize or hamper the reaching of the final agreement”. The Special Chamber pointed out that both obligations are obligations of conduct (see para. 627 and 629). Thus, the States concerned are not obliged to reach an agreement on provisional arrangements; however, they are under a duty to act in good faith (see para. 627). In this respect, the Special Chamber emphasized the general obligation under article 83, paragraph 3, whereby, in the transitional period, States have to act “in a spirit of understanding and cooperation” (see para. 630).

67. The operative provisions of the Special Chamber's judgment of 23 September 2017 are set out below.

The Special Chamber

(1) Unanimously,

Finds that it has jurisdiction to delimit the maritime boundary between the Parties in the territorial sea, in the exclusive economic zone and on the continental shelf, both within and beyond 200 nm.

(2) Unanimously,

Finds that there is no tacit agreement between the Parties to delimit their territorial sea, exclusive economic zone and continental shelf both within and beyond 200 nm, and rejects Ghana's claim that Côte d'Ivoire is estopped from objecting to the “customary equidistance boundary”.

(3) Unanimously,

Decides that the single maritime boundary for the territorial sea, the exclusive economic zone and the continental shelf within and beyond 200 nm starts at BP 55+ with the coordinates 05° 05' 23.2" N, 03° 06' 21.2" W in WGS 84 as a geodetic datum and is defined by turning points A, B, C, D, E, F with the following coordinates and connected by geodetic lines:

A: 05° 01' 03.7" N 03° 07' 18.3" W
 B: 04° 57' 58.9" N 03° 08' 01.4" W
 C: 04° 26' 41.6" N 03° 14' 56.9" W
 D: 03° 12' 13.4" N 03° 29' 54.3" W
 E: 02° 59' 04.8" N 03° 32' 40.2" W
 F: 02° 40' 36.4" N 03° 36' 36.4" W

From turning point F, the single maritime boundary continues as a geodetic line starting at an azimuth of 191° 38' 06.7" until it reaches the outer limits of the continental shelf.

(4) Unanimously,

Finds that it has jurisdiction to decide on the claim of Côte d'Ivoire against Ghana on the alleged international responsibility of Ghana.

(5) Unanimously,

Finds that Ghana did not violate the sovereign rights of Côte d'Ivoire.

(6) Unanimously,

Finds that Ghana did not violate article 83, paragraphs 1 and 3, of the Convention

(7) Unanimously,

Finds that Ghana did not violate the provisional measures prescribed by the Special Chamber in its Order of 25 April 2015.
